

KOL MEVASSER

President's Message

Dear Members and Friends,

This week we celebrated the 67th anniversary of the State of Israel.

On this Yom Haazmaut, the State of Israel must continue to be the great source of inspiration to the world as it tells every one of us that you don't have to be large to be great, a nation doesn't have to be rich in natural resources to prosper.

Israel has always been surrounded by adversaries, and yet it has shown that even so, you can still be a democracy, still have a free press, still have a judiciary, and remain the leader in science, technology, health care, medicine, the arts and humanity. No other country on earth can boast as many Nobel Laureates as the State of Israel. Israel is the greatest collective affirmation of life in the whole of Jewish history.

We are so fortunate to bear witness to a modern nation, yet the very existence of Israel is as near to a miracle as we will ever find. It has transformed the Jewish situation by the mere fact of its existence as the one and only place where Jews can defend themselves instead of relying on the often unreliable goodwill of others.

Nowhere will you see the power of possibility more than in the State of Israel today.

Israel has taken a barren land and made it bloom again.

Israel has taken the language of the Bible and made it speak again.

Israel has taken the west's oldest faith and made it young again.

And Israel has taken a brave and dynamic people, and made us live again.

We all have a shared interest in making sure this ancient land and its people is kept safe, secure and strong. God willing, Israel's light will shine throughout the world as this world's greatest symbol of life, freedom and hope; the strongest voice in the conversation of humankind.

Shabbat Shalom,

Ronald Einy
