This week's parasha culminates with the inauguration of the Mishkan, the traveling tabernacle, the sanctuary of Hashem in the desert. The Shechina, or divine presence, descended into the tabernacle on the eighth day of the inauguration, after the initial seven days, as stated in the Torah: "the glory of Hashem appeared to all the people." This eighth day is placed in a new parasha. The parasha division associated with the eighth day marks a new level of reality in our world.

We think of seven days as connected to the days of the week and to the natural cycle of things, for example the phases of the moon. Eight, on the other hand, is a number that we associate with a spiritual realm, a realm that is beyond this physical realm. The Torah emphasizes this split by placing the eighth day on which the Mishkan was inaugurated in a different section.

Human beings do not have the power to bridge the gap between these realms on their own. However, through Torah and mitzvot we are able to bring some of the high spiritual energy of the eighth day into our physical world. This is how we start to reveal the 'glory of Hashem' in our reality.

Hashem knows this world is challenging and gave us the Torah and mitzvot to empower us in this mission. King Solomon says something very powerful in Proverbs: "Wisdom has built her house; she has hewn her seven pillars."
