Rabbi's Message

Rabbi Natan Halevy

Shalom U'vracha,

We begin the fifth and final book of the Torah this week. Moshe begins his final testament to the nation, imparting the most important lessons necessary for the future success and wellbeing of the people. He delineates the qualities necessary for leaders of the nation, stating: "How can I bear your trouble, your burden, and your strife all by myself? Prepare for yourselves wise and understanding men, known among your tribes, and I will make them heads over you."

In other words, Moshe teaches us that our leaders must be known to us before they are chosen. They should have a good reputation within the community. We have to know their character and be certain that they are people of integrity.

Some of the qualities they should have include these. They should be righteous, strong-hearted people who will always seek the truth. They should be people of high quality who weigh all their deeds and actions so that they won't bring shame upon themselves and their communities with inappropriate, poorly chosen behavior.

Among their positive qualities, they have to be respected and held in awe by the community so that their decisions will be adhered to. They shouldn't be greedy people who will be swayed by financial considerations when making judgments. They should be strong enough to fearlessly right injustices that have been committed among people.

They must be people beloved by the community. They should be able to speak in a pleasant manner, so that the community will want to listen to them. They should have a deep level of understanding to discover wisdom in various, different situations and thus continuously increase their knowledge.

SUPPORT KAHAL JOSEPH

Annual Days of Giving begin August 16th 2022

Dear Members and Friends,

The past few years have been very hard on all of us, and yet we are doing our utmost to keep Kahal Joseph open and running with services and programs for our entire community. We are grateful for all your support and help. At this time, we are making a mass appeal asking each of you to be as generous as possible.

Our Annual Days of Giving will start on Tuesday, August 16th. You will be receiving a phone call from our volunteers. Any donation you make will be greatly appreciated.

This is an important appeal from Kahal Joseph in its time of need, and it depends upon your timely generosity.

The present success and growth of Kahal Joseph are the result of your bountiful support throughout the years. I look forward to your continued kindness and heartfelt donations and contributions.

May Hashem bless you and your families, and keep you healthy and safe.
